Though this Timpatiah has made himself obnoxious to the villagers in a variety of ways. I wished to give him an opportunity of improving his relations with the villagers and getting on quietly. As however he continues to be cantankerous he is removed from the Dugari ship & the Amildar will call upon the patels of the village to suggest a proper person for the worship

His Docket no 260 dated 14th December 1901, submitting the records connected with the appeal petition of Rangegowda and others of Hyarani, Hassan Taluk, in the matter of the Pujarieship in the Sri Lakshmi Devi and the Sri Anjaneyaswami Temples at Hyarani.

With reference to the above

has the honour to request information on the following points :—

1 From the records it is observed that Lingabhatta and Venkatappa were later doing the Puja by turns in the Sri Lakshmi--devi and the Sri Anja--neyaswami Temples and enjoying the Inam lands endowed to the Deities, each keeping the Godi annual-ly. But it is not quite clear what proportion of the Godi is being paid by each and which of the Inam lands each has been enjoying - that is, who is in possession of

Lakshmi Devi Temple and who has been enjoying those of the Anjaneya Temple - ii The applicants have subsequently produced certain Kandayam Receipts, which show that Venkatayya paid the Kandayam or Jodi on the lands attached to both the Trusts. If the same lands had been in the enjoyment of both Timmayya and Venkatayya, why were the Jodi & amounts levied from Venkatayya alone? Does Timmayya possess separate receipts for his portion of the Jodi amount paid by him, if any?

iii It appears that even before the dispute arose about the Pujaship in question, Venkatayya and Simhadrayya were both enjoying the produce of the Inam lands endowed to the two temples in question.

If Simhadrayya was really the sole Hakdar, how could Venkatayya have come to the possession of the Inam lands and why should he have been allowed by Simhadrayya to enjoy the their produce?

In view of the Court's order setting aside the orders of the ~~the~~ Distt Magistrate Assistant-Court,

Mr Parameshwara Iyer, is not very clear on this point.

2 The Dy Commissioner is therefore requested to submit a full and clear report on all the points noted above, together with the necessary records bearing on the subject.

3 The records noted with the Docket under reply, together with the marginally noted letters since received, are forwarded herewith for reference and re-
-submission
